SEIDEL, SOCIALIST MAYOR, IS BURNED

MILWAUKEE, July 5.—Emil Seidel, Milwaukee's Socialist Mayor, was burned about the head and face when a puff of flame burst from a gas heater in his bath room. It was at first thought the burns would prove serious, but after examination by a physician they were pronounced not serious. The Mayor expects to be back at his office within a day or two.

The Common was thronged with people seeking relief from the scorching sun. The mother shown in the photograph has taken baby and his pillow from the go-cart to make him as comfortable as possible on the grass.

Complaints were filed with Acting Mayor Walter L. Collins, the City Council and the Police Department by citizens of Boston and elsewhere that the exhibition was being held in the city from the Charles River Basin last night was a "front" of the worst kind, and that the city had been hoodwinked. As a result of these protests, Acting Mayor Collins today announced that he will not "O. K." the proposed exhibition. The city had agreed to pay the International Amusement and Coney-Playground Company of New Jersey for the exhibition.

The members of the Belgian Chamber of Commerce party touring Europe, according to a cable message received to-day from Secretary McKibben, arrived at Brussels at 1:30 this afternoon. At 2:30 a reception in their honor is given at the Brussels Chamber of Commerce, and at 5 a meeting is held at Hotel de Ville where the city of Brussels will formally receive the delegates and a conference will be held on matters relative to municipal administration.

The party will be in Brussels, where it will remain until Friday, when it is charged with the duty of visiting the city of Lion, Canon Le Grand, president, assistant, Emil Ingrand, secretary of the International Association of Chambers of Commerce, which has its permanent headquarters in Brussels.

EAST WIND ONLY HOPE OF RELIEF.

The Weather Man up in the top of the Federal Building held out some hope for suffering Boston before evening. This hope rested in the much heralded East Wind. If the East Wind, or sea breeze, sweep across Boston to-day this city will drink them in with exclamations of delight; there will be found life, health and refreshment.

But if the East Wind jays out blow the

MRS. JEWEL ON STAND TODAY

NEW YORK, July 5.—Mrs. Helen Jewett Jenkins, the jewel mystery woman, was the first witness called today for the Federal grand jury today which began its probe of the big smuggling syndicate which has been operating for years in the diamond and jewelry trade in this country and is alleged to have smuggled hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds and other jewels into this country since the war.

That the evidence Mrs. Jewett gave the grand jury is of the greatest importance is shown by the secrecy with which she has been guarded since she first landed up in the United States two weeks ago. Heretofore she has made to the government officials and to the public no statement whatever. It is claimed that the government has been notified for several years of its duties on vast quantities of jewelry. It is claimed that the huge syndicate connected with the name of Mrs. Jewett have been the most active.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM

This Michigan Woman Suffered for Two Years.

Now She Is Strong and Healthy and Owes Her Recovery Entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Years ago when medical science was but advanced rheumatism was considered something to rub on the joints and muscles. Some people who do not know any better still stick to the old-fashioned way, but it does not cure their rheumatism and may kill. When the rheumatism is driven from the blood the rheumatism is cured. The thing is to get the right medicine to drive the poison out. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured cases of rheumatism than of any other disease.

Mrs. May Buchanan, whose address is F. D. No. 10, Sparks, Mich., gives a brief account of her case, as follows: "I suffered for the greater part of two years from muscular rheumatism, which was hastened in my case by exposure to cold and wet weather, loss of appetite, was weak and nervous, couldn't do my work and for several weeks was confined to bed. The pains were so bad and aching and were very intense in my hips."

"I was under the doctor's care for a long time but his medicine did not help me. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a book and gave them a trial. The first few boxes relieved me and in a few weeks I was cured. I have a good appetite and am strong and healthy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also cured anemia, chlorosis, general debility, after-effects of the grip and fever and should be given in any case where a tonic for the blood and nerves is needed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the same and are sold only in packages bearing the well-known trade-mark.

A copy of our new booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," containing full information about this treatment, will be sent free upon request. It should be read by every sufferer from impoverished blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine—double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion, that is sold by Houghton & Dutton or Riker-Jaynes Drug Co., under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask Houghton & Dutton or Riker-Jaynes Drug Co. for the double-strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

us that with the exception of a sign or two in the hamlet where he lived he had never seen a picture.

When he grew old enough to read and study in a book, he thought himself very fortunate, for he could use the margin of every page for drawing pictures. Very soon he had no margin left on which to draw. Having no paper, for paper cost money, he was hard put to it to find a place on which to practice his talent. Finally he thought of the parish church, and going into its burning ground, he drew

All the people in the village thought him a great artist and he decorated the walls of their rooms, as he once said, "at a very cheap rate." On one wall there were birds and insects; on another, the picture of a hunter; on others, of his horse, and of every dog in the hunting

And now there was an opening of a door, and Winter shot one warbling glance at the curtains which surrounded the passage. A small figure, a man in a tuxedo appeared beyond the rail of the upper landing, a man attired in a gray frock coat and wearing a silk hat. Mr. Bates uttered a gasp.

"Well, I never!" he exclaimed.

"What?" asked Winter.

"That fellow," said Mr. Bates, indignantly adding, "You see now that you might have been told by me."

In the course of them Thomas Bewick made pictures and engraved them for many books; some were children's books, for which he drew as fine pictures as he could, so that other children might have better illustrations in their books than he, as a boy, had in his. From such work he proceeded to the animals, birds and fishes of his country; then to engraving a bank note, and a picture that it could not be counterfeited.

He was a man of great energy, but not a little, and yet he became so well educated that his life, written by himself, reads like the work of a man whose profession was letters and not engraving.

There Is Danger That the Boston Dock Bill May Die by an Inadvertence

Under NORMAL conditions there could be no possible fear that the bill providing for the expenditure of nine million dollars on our Boston docks would be LOST in the present Legislature.

But the conditions are NOT normal. The session is protracted, the most controverted measures now hold public attention, the weather is hot, the call of the country and the seashore is strong, and the patience and vigilance of the legislators are sorely taxed.

It is a situation in which a bill that everybody favors might die by an inadvertence. What is everybody's business might, in some untoward moment, become nobody's business, and the bill be lost in the very number of its friends.

The noise of the controversy over the Elevated leases, and the New Haven tunnel may make these measures seem to overshadow, in their importance, the bill to improve our docks. But NOTHING CAN BE MORE IMPORTANT than this measure.

The congestion in New York harbor, the opening of the vast and fertile territory of the Canadian Northwest, the tremendous extension of the Grand Trunk Railroad, the impending Canadian reciprocity treaty, the fact that we are six hundred miles nearer the Pacific coast in the trade routes from Europe than New York on the south of us and that on the North there is no open Winter port which can compete with us, that the new mammoth steamships find our harbor conveniently deep, that we are ten hours nearer Europe than New York and that there is an organized effort among our business men to make known to the world these great advantages and attract to our door that increase of trade which enterprising cities in Europe and America would have attained long ago, all point to the IMMEDIATE NECESSITY of being ready for business when it comes.

Massachusetts capital has developed the West. Now the West is developed and our capital is coming back to us. Where shall we employ it? On our northeast there lies a great undeveloped territory with wonderful water power. That territory is big with future possibilities and Boston is its natural port.

We spent twenty-nine millions to tunnel the Hoosac Mountain to bring the grain of the West to Boston more easily. We have subscribed millions to the bonds of our railroads. We have spent millions on our parks.

Does anyone fear to risk nine millions on our docks?

New Blood for Civil Service Board

There appears to be an organized movement to secure the reappointment of Mr. Charles Warren upon the Board of Civil Service Commissioners.

Probably most of the men who are interested in the cause of Mr. Warren have an HONEST purpose in their activity. There is in this country a large and growing portion of our citizenship which believes that the appointment of men to do the public business ought to have regard entirely for their qualifications to do the work they are chosen to do.

This feeling has grown so strong that even the men who make a business of politics now dare not challenge its principle, although they may question its application under different circumstances. The AMERICAN unqualifiedly approves the principle of the civil service reform movement, and we do not think that its application has yet been carried too far. But in the same of civil service reform much may be done that is INDISCREET and UNFAIR and prejudicial to the reform movement.

No one questions the character of Mr. Warren. But the wisdom of his reappointment may be very seriously questioned. Mr. Warren is NOT a man naturally broad-gauged nor has he had the kind of experience in public service which has tended to broaden him.

He does not live in Boston. He has never touched elbows with the type of men who dominate the public affairs of Boston. His natural tendency, uncorrected by his experience, is to MEASURE MEN BY YARD STICKS and weigh them with mechanical devices.

The members of his commission have construed their new power with a liberality hardly justified by the language of the statute and with evident relish for their new authority. They have exercised their authority to reject the appointees of the Mayor upon an arbitrary basis of judgment wholly foreign to the true intent of the law. They have rejected men because the MOTIVE for their appointment seemed political and not because they were not qualified to fill the offices to which they were appointed.

Mr. Warren's task has not been easy or grateful, and yet it would seem clear that a man, equally free from the influence of City Hall, but with greater knowledge of and sympathy with the dominant elements in Boston, should take his place in the Civil Service Commission. Objections to Mr. Warren's reappointment more specific than these could be urged, but these are sufficient.

"Never Let Yourself Get Worried, or Hurried, or Flurried"

That's the Chorus of a Popular Song. It's a Good Chorus to Remember, as You Contemplate Small Political Rascals and Big Corporation Robbers

Copyright, 1911, by American Journal-Examiner

These are days in which it is not very difficult for the pessimistic citizen to get discouraged.

From one State Legislature you hear that one set of grafting rascals have been taking the bribes of a dishonest United States Senator.

Another State Legislature tells you that a rascal of another kind is interfering with the safety of banks, and still another worthless corruptionist is planning to put the citizens more hopelessly than ever in the hands of a dishonest boss.

You find that merchants have been robbing the Government through the Custom House, little business men stealing their paltry thousands, bigger business men stealing their hundreds of thousands, and the big Sugar Trust stealing its millions and tens of millions.

You find eminently respectable business men indicted, MORE THAN EIGHTY OF THEM AT ONE TIME.

In every city the voters are swindled in a hundred different ways. Street car monopolies ill-treat the public, cheat, underpay their employees and give bad service.

One set of individuals are seizing for themselves what is left of the public domain. If Uncle Sam, which means the nation, had one hundred thousand pockets, he would feel the hand of some thief in every one of those pockets every day.

But DON'T GET DISCOURAGED, AND REMEMBER THAT THERE IS NO REASON WHY THE PEOPLE SHOULD BE DISCOURAGED. Bear in mind the refrain of the popular song printed at the head of this column.

The people need not be worried, IF THEY DON'T WANT TO BE WORRIED. If the people are willing to think a little bit, to act for themselves, to get together and protect their interests—as the big and little thieves get together and protect themselves, all the public thieving and all the general dishonesty and grafting can be stopped.

You feel sorry for an old horse when you see him driven brutally, whipped, kicked, and perhaps cheated of his oats when he gets into the stable.

A horse has a right to be discouraged; he would be justified in shedding tears if he could shed tears, BECAUSE A HORSE CAN'T THINK. And when he gets the man that abuses him in a stall he doesn't realize his power, he doesn't know enough to get that man down and cure him for all time of abusing an unfortunate animal.

But the public that owns the United States is not a horse. The public, it is true, is treated about as some drivers treat their horses. But the public CAN THINK. Every little while, on election day, the public gets into the corner of the stall the politician, the corporation owner, the whole collection of dishonest rascals.

The public is intelligent enough to know what its strength is if it cares to use it.

The public, through taxation, has the absolute power of CONFISCATION! The Street Car Trust thinks it owns your city so far as the streets go. And the Lighting Trust imagines that it owns your homes so far as the light goes.

Just bear in mind that these monopolies will own nothing at all ON THE DAY WHEN YOU DECIDE THAT THEY MUST NOT OWN ANYTHING. And don't let yourself get worried, or hurried, or flurried. They have stolen your property from you, but any day, if you wish it, you can take that property back.

The power of taxation is the power to confiscate. And apart from the power of taxation, there is a higher power which rests in the hands of the people only—not in the hands of grafting legislators, not in the hands of corporation-owned judges, not in the hands of a few intelligent men guided by cunning lawyers, BUT IN THE HANDS OF YOU, THE VOTERS. You own this country, you have the moral right, the numerical strength, and just as soon as you get tired of being robbed, laughed at and bamboozled you can change conditions.

Don't ever be worried, or bothered, because you read about successful rascality. It exists only BECAUSE YOU PERMIT IT. When you get ready to think about public affairs earnestly, and to act earnestly and together, you will be able to adjust matters very simply.

A poor old horse gets kicked and abused because he cannot think or plan.

The people get kicked and abused because they WILL not think or plan.

At any big election in any year you can change matters if you will. And so long as you don't take the trouble to change matters don't complain if the grafting organizations continue to enjoy themselves.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

POSTAL SERVICE PROFITS

Editor AMERICAN:
For information on the subject of the reduction of the United States postal expenses by Postmaster-General Hitchcock for which you gave him such unstinted praise in a recent editorial, which one of our friends commended so highly, and to Mr. Fisher of Providence criticism, I would respectfully refer you to James W. Babcock's article in a current magazine entitled "More Light on Postal Matters." It is shown in that article that the result was accomplished by discharging large numbers of employees, thereby depressing wages, and by cutting down the cost of remaining employees and overworking them, crippling and injuring the service. All this at the same time doing nothing to lessen the payments of postal rates on inadequate, uncomfortable and even dangerous cars used on the routes of mail, and down the ineffectual charges for cartage, occasioned by alleged overweight.

The figures quoted by the Postmaster-General are said to be distorted in periods when the bulk of mail is abnormal and during the winter months when the periods large quantities of heavy franked matter to increase bulk and weight of mail handled.

According to that article the economy promised is of a very expensive kind. "Plain words plain," says Mr. Babcock, "it would be interesting to know how the reduction of the postal expenses has been accomplished. The article referred to undertakes to explain in language which is very plain and very interesting."

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Editor AMERICAN:
The United States Supreme Court is becoming more responsive to public sentiment. Progressive opinion and enlightened views of the people are compelling a respect of human rights that all should see in a republic. Commenting on a recent anti-trust decision and its significance, a friend, George P. Goodard of St. Louis, writes: "I do not believe such a decision could have been secured a few years ago, even had the court been made up of the same men as now. This is not an indication that the court would have been less sincere then, or is less sincere now. I simply mean that there is a new belief in the people which has been maintained for the past decade, that the Supreme Court has been changed, and the Supreme Justices have changed with it."
